TELLS OF RUSSIA'S NEEDS

FRANCIS OUTLINES WAR NECESSITIES OF COUNTRY.

America Urged to Furnish Munitions, Railroad Equipment and Credit; No Separate Peace.

Washington, April 26.—A cablegram to the state department from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd states that all the Russians require to defeat Germany is munitions, railroad equipment and credit. He urged that these be furnished by the United States.

Ambassador Francis declared he was "pained and provoked" to hear that there was fear and suspicion in America of Russia making a separate peace. Of this he saw no possibility whatever, asserting that the provisional government and people of Russia would have no peace except that founded on justice and freedom.

Russia is not manufacturing a sufficient amount of munitions to supply her armies, and heretofore has been receiving large quantities from England, in addition to those she purchased in Japan. German submarine operations are understood to have reduced to a minimum the amount Russia has been receiving from Great Britain, and the supply from Japan is inadequate. Because of a shortage of funds and credits also, Russia looks to America to aid her in keeping her troops effectively equipped.

Besides the shortage in munitions, Russia's railroad problem is nearly as serious as any difficulty confronting the nation, and it is not concealed that she faces disaster unless the needs are supplied. It is not believed either here or by diplomatic and government officials in Petrograd that temporary German successes would be anything more than ephemeral, but it is thought even these may be averted if Russia is properly assisted.

SALOONS TO BE OPEN ON ELECTION DAY

Prosecuting Attorney Rules Saloons May Remain Open on Special Election Day.

At a conference between Prosecuting Attorney Caruthers, City Attorney Bain and City Counselor Knehan yesterday, it was decided to permit the saloons to remain open on the day of the special school election, next Tuesday. The statutes leave it to the discretion of the excise commissioner or in the cities, that have no such official, to the prosecuting attorney of the county to decide whether saloons may be open on special election days.

The three officials arrived at the conclusion that inasmuch as the issue to be voted on was not of great importance, the saloons should be allowed to do business on that day.

The election will be held for the purpose of having the voters decide whether the School Board may levy an additional 10 cents tax upon the general revenue of the city. This additional tax is asked to enable the School Board to pay off bonds that are resting on several schools and to make some improvements that have been found to be necessary.

Aside from this, the members of the School Board state the special tax will permit them to purchase a lot adjoining the Broadway School and permit the city to widen Themis street as has been proposed by the City Counselor.
